NEWSLETTER

ISSUE 30: Friday, 11th January 2019

From the Headmistress:

It has been wonderful to welcome back all the children after the holidays and to hear many of the excited tales of family gatherings, quite treasured moments, trips abroad and excursions at home. We have spoken a little in assemblies about News Year's resolutions, but our main focus has been on letting go of the past and looking to the future. Of accepting that there will be hard times ahead but that there are also wonderful things to look forward to.

A new term always brings a fresh start in both the classroom and the playground and all the children have been reminded of our Playground Rules Poem, which is there to guide them so that everyone has the opportunity to enjoy their playtime activities with their friends.

Many of the teachers are also putting together the final details and plans for class trips, sporting events and assemblies so that the lessons taught in the classroom can be extended and celebrated through demonstration and presentation. I hope that many of you will be able to attend or support these and letters will be on their way to you shortly with details.
